steal o'er our track, Thy white feet, in dancing, Shall chace them all back:
When the Ba lai ka is heard o'er the sea, Thou'lt dance the Romai - ka, My own love with me.

Then, at the closing
Of each merry lay,
We'll lie reposing
Beneath the night ray;
Or if declining
The moon leaves the skies
We'll talk by the shining
Of each other's eyes
When &c.

Oh then, how featly
The dance we'll renew,
Winding so fleetly
Its light mazes through.
Till stars shining o'er us
From heav'n's high bowers
Would give their bright chorus
For one dance of ours!
When &c.
